Dear Mr. Reist,

Being a parent of two children within the secondary and elementary school system that face the continuous struggle with the challenges of LD, the Tutor Wiz has been a welcomed source of support and instruction.

Upon our first meeting it was apparent that you were very knowledgeable regarding the barriers that LD students struggle with on a daily basis. Through exploration of their IEP's, training programs were developed to utilize the assistive technology programs within their school to target their individual needs and learning styles. The last thing any struggling student wants is additional instruction but with your fun and supportive approach they began to welcome the sessions and detailed what was learned that day.

After completion of the 4 week session my children are able to access the programs confidently and independently at school utilizing the technology within their daily studies. Frequently, the programs have been chosen independently for greater results based on their current areas of study. The barriers that their LD once presented have been accommodated and their self esteem is soaring with their newly acquired abilities.

The assistive technology that has been introduced by the Tutor Wiz under your direction and available to them within their school has become an extremely important tool for their success now and their future academic journey.

Yours truly,

Laura Thornton
